Utopia in Ever After

Instructions: Read each question/promp and write your response in the space provided with complete sentences.

1. Danielle captures the attention of the prince, not only by her beauty, but by quoting Thomas More, the author of Utopia. Based on their discussion, what is the attitude of More toward servants and other manual laborers?

2. At the end of this clip, the servant, Maurice, is reunited with his loved ones. What details do you notice about the characters and the setting?

Tone is the speaker’s or author’s (or director’s) attitude toward the subject. Here is a list of some words you can use to describe tone:

- angry
- reverent
- silly
- afraid
- joyful
- sweet
- bitter
- dreamy
- dreamy
- dramatic
- sad
- cold
- peaceful
- mocking
- somber
- sentimental
- sympathetic
- humorous
- pitiful
- inspiring
- sharp
- tense
- mournful
- aloof

3. What is the tone of the reunion?

4. What details from the film (textual evidence) give you this impression?

5. What are some challenges of the society presented in this film clip?

6. Do you see evidence of any of the same challenges in today’s society? Explain.