

PODCAST SUGGESTIONS

OK—I don't really do podcasts but these are some that looked useful, seemed interesting, and/or included some big-name historians (yes, there actually are some of those). The ones that appear to me to be the most easily accessible/understandable have an asterisk next to them. Most are available through Apple Podcasts. There are some (like Freakonomics, for example) that are not strictly historical in nature but do often include history topics. You will probably have to dig around a little to find what you really like, especially since this is a combined WHAP/Euro list. As with the movies and books...use good judgement, please.
